Access is gained via the transom door into the aft cockpit. There's port and aft seating with stowage beneath. There's a large lazarette and stb side locker and lifebuoy. Moving forward you have the sliding door into the main cabin. One thing you immediately notice is how bright and airy Blue Fin is. The galley is stb side. It is well equipped and of typical Scandinavian quality. There's a round stainless steel sink with hot and cold water (hot water via calorifier /Immersion), a Techimplex two burner LPG hob and oven, 12v Isotherm fridge and ample storage. Blue Fin comes complete with the original Nimbus plates and bowls. Opposite is the large 'U' shaped dinette again with a quality teak folding table. This converts to a double berth. (Engines accesses beneath). The helm is stb side and has excellent all-round visibility and benefits from having radar, Plotter, Autopilot and Bow thruster. You then step down and stb side is the well sized shower and toilet compartment which is fitted with a manual sea toilet to holding tank (approx. 40lts), hand basin with pull out shower head and mixer tap, teak surface, under sink storage and large mirror. Opposite is the under aft cabin which has a double berth, storage cupboard, 2x reading lights, 220v socket and small mirror. Fwd is the large master cabin. It benefits from the centreline double berth with stowage beneath and has hanging lockers on the port side. The heating controls are located stb side. There's also a large mirror, 2x220v sockets, reading lights, clock and barometer. Blue Fin has been well maintained and is a credit to her current owners.
